Goldfine Faces Contempt Charges by House Probers

Adams' Friend Refuses Quiz On Business

Contents Panel Has No Right To Ask Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Counsel for House investigators today accused Bernard Goldfine of contempt of Congress after the Boston industrialist refused to answer 23 questions about his financial affairs.

The questions had been specially drawn up to prepare the way for possible contempt action.

Robert W. Lishman, lawyer for the subcommittee checking Goldfine's dealings with Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams and federal agencies, charged that Goldfine was in contempt.

The charge was not immediately acted on. But the subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) had taken steps toward citing Goldfine for not answering questions which they said were pertinent to their inquiry.

Goldfine was asked particularly about financial matters connected with his East Boston Co., a holding firm, and its subsidiary, the Boston Port Development Co.

Goldfine declared again and again that these had nothing to do with the House probe of regulatory agencies. Harris said the questions definitely were pertinent.

"I contend that this subcommittee has no right to inquire into the internal affairs of the companies concerned," Goldfine maintained.

Lishman then told the subcommittee that Goldfine has refused to answer enough pertinent questions "to establish in my judgment that the witness is guilty of contempt."

That contempt, Lishman declared, consists of a Goldfine effort to prevent the subcommittee from performing the responsibilities of remedial legislation to take care of the public interest.

Goldfine's East Boston Co. got into trouble with the Securities Exchange Commission for not filing required financial reports from 1948 to 1954.

Adams has sworn that while he asked SEC about the case he neither sought nor got special favor for his gift-giving friend. The SEC and Goldfine both have denied that the Boston millionaire did get special treatment.

Goldfine was served the subpoena as he entered the hearing room. Until then he had been a voluntary witness, though fighting with the congressmen over their questions.

Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) read the Boston industrialist a long, prepared statement declaring the subcommittee's job was to check into how

Accardo Handed Contempt Citation by Senate Body

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gangster Tony Accardo, who always has been too smart for the law, drew a contempt of Congress citation today for trying to make a mockery of the Constitution's Fifth Amendment privilege.

The poker-faced reputed boss of Chicago's gangland didn't bat an eye as Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) ordered the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee staff to prepare the contempt citation.

"I am hopeful," McClellan said, "the courts will be conscious of an obligation to society as a whole" and send Accardo to prison. Contempt is punishable by up to a year in prison and $10,000 fine.

Accardo had just invoked the Fifth Amendment on whether, in a single year, he had ordered the murder of one lawyer for the Chicago Restaurant Assn., and been involved in a plot to kill another association attorney.

McClellan sustained Accardo's pleas that answers to questions about these never-fulfilled murder plans, and about alleged gang executions might tend to incriminate him.

But in cold, stern tones, McClellan accused Accardo of a flagrant abuse of the Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination in refusing to tell whether he is a citizen of this country or where or when he was born. The committee said he is a Chicago native.

Accardo has a record of many arrests, but never has he spent more than a few hours in any jail.

He once was indicted for contempt of Congress. The indictment grew out of his refusal to answer questions before the Senate Crime Investigating Committee in 1951. He and several others indicted then were acquitted.

It is time, McClellan continued, for the courts to say whether the Fifth Amendment was intended to be and can be used as a device simply to refuse to give information that could not possibly be incriminating.

Accardo refused to say anything about whether he was involved in an underworld conspiracy to shake down hotels, restaurants, taverns and liquor vendors through a network of gangster-run trade associations which would sell the owners protection from labor troubles through cooperation by hoodlums and labor unions.

This is the main subject before the committee in the current hearings on Chicago rackets.

In his first hour on the witness stand, Accardo, who lost an attempt to block out television of his appearance, invoked the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination more than 140 times.

The only questions he answered were for his name and address.

The reputed baron of rackets and vice in Chicago's underworld pleaded it might incriminate him to answer any question about his business or occupation. He argued unsuccessfully that telecasting his testimony would invade his privacy. The hearings are being televised live in Chicago.

The carefully tailored Accardo strode to the witness stand after his alleged West Side Chicago top henchman, Sam Battaglia, had refused to tell whether he served as executioner for the Capone gang.

Battaglia, a bleak-eyed, slim, graying man, refused to answer when asked whether he had helped to bludgeon and burn to death Estelle Carey in 1943. Battaglia also refused to say whether he had any part in a conspiracy to kill Abraham Teitelbaum, one-time lawyer to gangster Al Capone.

Accardo's unsuccessful attempt to block the televising of his testimony was made through his lawyer, H. Clifford Alder of Washington, who argued: "He is neither an entertainer, an athlete nor a political figure. He is a private citizen whose rights of privacy should not be invaded. He is only here because of subpoena and is not here to appear on a television show."

A Chicago court denied Accardo a preliminary injunction to prevent the televising of his appearance by Station WKBK, Channel 7 in Chicago. But Alder argued that unless the injunction suit is completed with a decision against Accardo his rights of privacy should not be violated.

Accardo was called after Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said the FBI is investigating alleged gangster intimidation of witnesses in the committee's inquiry into underworld infiltration of labor and management.

McClellan said the FBI is looking into two alleged intimidation cases in Detroit and another in Chicago but gave no details.

The committee wants to learn from Accardo whether he had a hand in a plot to murder Teitelbaum.

Posse Captures Bearded Child-Killer in Mountains

REGINA, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico State Police today wounded and captured a bearded recluse who Thursday slew two children.

Police identified the captured man as Nelson A. Foose, 47. They said he once spent six months in an Idaho mental hospital.

Six officers, led by Sgt. Milton Matteson of Santa Fe, closed in on the hermit's camp at dawn.

"I told him to come out and throw down his gun," Matteson said. "He came out in the road with his hands up, but with the rifle still with him."

"I told him again to throw down the gun, and fired a warning shot into the bank. He didn't, and one of the officers shot him in the foot."

Regina is a tiny hamlet in the mountains of Sandoval county, about 100 miles north of Albuquerque.

About 100 men surrounded the camp where Foose Thursday night shot and wounded Sam Hill, one of the posse members.

The man had shot and killed two children on the streets of Cuba, N. M., and wounded the mother of one of them.

The bald, bearded Foose chatted calmly with four sweating officers who were carrying him down the mountainside.

"What were all you fellows doing out there?" Foose asked.

"We were looking for you," Foose said. "I didn't know what was going on." Foose said. "I wondered what all you fellows were doing out there."

"How does it feel to be shot?" an officer asked.

"It hurts," Foose said.

"Well," the officer said, "there is two people that don't hurt any more."

Foose had been prospecting for uranium in the area for about six months.

The slayer left his camp about noon Thursday and drove to the mountain town of Cuba, a farming village of less than 500, about 75 miles northwest of Albuquerque.

Driving up in front of a grocery store, he stopped and leveled his deer rifle across the car window.

"I thought he was just bringing his rifle in to pawn it," said Weldon Vernon, clerk in the grocery store. "Then he fired. I ran out and the little girl was laying there. Then he shot a little boy and drove off as if he weren't in too much of a hurry."

The dead girl was Maria Cebada, 12. The soft-soled 30-06 slug passed through her back and struck a flesh wound across the stomach of her mother Mrs. Sofia Cebada. Eddie Cebada, 13, nephew of the slain girl, was sitting 45 feet away on the porch of his family's store. The second bullet struck him in the right hip and severed an artery. He was dead on arrival at an Albuquerque hospital.

About half a mile up the road, at the head of the mountain valley, Mauldin stopped.

"We can wait here," he said. Carabines were unlimbered and officers and volunteers crouched behind the car watching the dark face of the mountain where every shadow became a bearded, armed figure.

"You'd better take off that shirt," said a voice. "I took off the light colored shirt I wore and started shivering in the mountain cold. It was better than getting shot."

The men talked in whispers, listening for a sound from the brush. We crouched behind the cars.

"Have you ever seen what a 30-06 slug can do going through

Storm Rips Kansas Town

Three Reported Killed by Winds

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Storms with hurricane-force winds, hail and heavy rain battered a wide area of northeastern Kansas early today, causing widespread damage at Topeka and a flash flood at Atchison.

At Atchison, City Manager William Yerkes said there were at least two dead and that he had an unconfirmed report of a third death. A 12-year-old girl also drowned at Topeka.

Water was six to eight feet deep in the downtown area. The city's water supply was cut off and there was little electric power. Yerkes said several buildings collapsed and trains in the railroad yards were derailed. National Guardsmen and highway patrolmen moved into the area.

The storm contained at least one tornado and possibly others. One funnel hit a farm 3 1/2 miles west of Topeka, destroying a barn and two out-buildings, but dissipated before it reached the city. There were numerous unconfirmed reports of other tornado funnels.

Rain at Topeka measured 3.90 inches, and drove Shunganunga Creek out of its banks.

More rain was forecast. Topeka police said the winds, officially measured at up to 92 miles an hour, severed power and telephone lines, knocked down uncounted trees and damaged numerous homes. Police said live wires lay exposed in several places.

The wind knocked over a 45-foot trailer, and rescue workers pulled a woman from the wreckage. The transmission tower of radio station KTPO was felled, and two others stations, WREN and WIBW, had to resort to emergency power to continue operating.

Towns throughout the eastern Kansas area reported high winds and rain. Americus, a village northwest of Emporia, was isolated by poles and live power lines which blocked highways.

Emporia, where the wind velocity reached 98 m.p.h., reported trees felled and stripped roofs.

Police Chief S. R. Purdue said that shortly after the storm ended, thieves started looting downtown Topeka stores, where wind and hail smashed many windows.

The Weather Bureau had no advance warning of the storm, which struck about 1 o'clock.

The storm moved across Kansas City, 72 miles to the southeast, about 2:30 a.m., but police said it caused no damage.

Chillicothe Has Big Time With O'Neill

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill headed back to Columbus today where he will stage the third in a series of 11 Governor's Day picnics. This one is at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Thursday the governor put on one of the biggest political rallies seen here in years. The show was complete with free rides for children, high school bands, professional entertainment, food and soft drinks.

After shaking hands for three hours, O'Neill told his audience of the state's "firsts." He said: "Ohio now leads all other states in new highway construction. Ohio is first among all the states in the construction of hospitals for the mentally ill. Ohio is first among the states to develop a program for education beyond high school for our youngsters, since Sputnik focused the attention of the people of America upon our educational system."

Continuing, O'Neill stated: "Ohio has grown to be the second state in America in manufacturing and with our present natural resources and our favorable economic climate in Ohio, in the next 15 years we can reach first place among all the states."

On the state's financial condition, the governor said there is an uncommitted surplus of 38 million dollars.

Ross, Nicklaus Score Triumphs

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Defending champion Bob Ross Jr. of Springfield and highly favored Jack Nicklaus of Columbus today won first-round matches in the 52nd Ohio Amateur golf championship at Tippecanoe Country Club. Ross, although 3 over par, triumphed 5 and 4 over Jim Stahl, Notre Dame player from Cincinnati. Nicklaus, 4 over par, was a 3 and 2 winner over Dr. Mark Moots of Canton.

Moons Disclose Space Problems

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Unexpected problems disclosed by the U. S. Explorer satellites have put new difficulties in the way of manned space flight, says a space scientist.

Chief problem, Dr. J. E. Froelich told the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences Thursday, is the intense radiation encountered in the satellites' range of from 600 to 1,700 miles above the earth.

Instruments in the two Explorer satellites have measured radiation far in excess of what scientists planned on, said Froelich, one of the designers of the satellites. Source of the radiation is not known, he said.

He said the heavy radiation would endanger human travelers in space. Providing shields to protect passengers would increase the weight of space vehicles and thereby add to the problem of getting them into space, he added.

Dr. Froelich said the satellites have also disclosed that tiny meteorites abound in outer space. The first Explorer had 38 collisions with meteorites in 13 days, he said, but all were harmless.

He said the satellites have produced much significant knowledge about outer space, but warned: "Man has taken but a little step toward his objective to emigrate from the planet earth... We have encountered problems we did not expect and physical phenomena we do not understand. Progress will now be slower than we like."

Final Briefs In SUB Case Filed Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The final briefs in the dispute over simultaneous payment of supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) and state jobless compensation were filed today in the Ohio Supreme Court.

A 69-page joint brief was filed by three parties who intervened in the case when it was heard in Mahoning County Common Pleas Court. That court and the Appellate Court ruled simultaneous payment of both benefits is legal under present law.

The intervenors are the C. E. Morris Co., Richard H. Ward and Donald R. Smith.

The action is in a form of a request for a declaratory judgment on the legality of simultaneous payments. It is one of two SUB cases before the court.

The other case is a direct appeal from refusal of Bureau of Unemployment Compensation officials to permit state payments to a Youngstown steel worker who received a SUB payment.

The intervenors are not involved in the appeal case. Their brief applies only to the declaratory judgment case.

The appeals case was rushed through lower courts because some legal experts questioned whether Mahoning County Courts had jurisdiction in the declaratory judgment case and there appears a possibility the Supreme Court may throw out the latter case on those grounds.

The next apparent step is for the high court to set a hearing date. Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant has notified attorneys for both sides that both cases will be heard together.

Oscar Fleckner Heads Democratic Finance Panel

Director of the Ohio Democratic Finance Committee.

Fleckner, Columbus business man, former Democratic gubernatorial candidate, Springfield city manager, and state liquor director, was appointed to the post by William L. Coleman, Democratic state chairman.

Fleckner also was chairman of the 1956 Democratic state convention. He will direct all phases of fund raising for the party. The party organization has established what it terms "a fair share allotment system based on an alternate equation of $1 per Democratic vote cast in the last primary, or five cents per capita of the county population, whichever is lesser."

OSU Approves Major Shifts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University's Board of Trustees today approved six major campus promotions and appointments.

They were: W. L. Miller, 66, appointed director of the university's new branch campus at Mansfield. He is a former superintendent of schools in that city.

Harold A. Bolz, 47, promoted to dean of the College of Engineering. He is currently serving as acting dean.

Frederick I. Jones, 37, of Huntington, Ind., appointed agricultural editor of the Agricultural Extension Service. He is now editor and assistant to the publisher of the Indiana Farmers' Guide.

Brig. Gen. Paul S. Fancher, 54, appointed director of the University Health Service. He is retiring as commanding officer of the Letterman Army Hospital in San Francisco.

Wendell W. Ellenwood, 36, of Kensington, Md., appointed director of the Ohio Union. He is now program planning officer of the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

Dr. John R. Wilson, 41, promoted to associate dean of the College of Dentistry.

White House Plans Fight On Trade Bill

Democratic Leader To Assist GOP In Floor Scrap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eisenhower administration officials today pledged a Senate floor fight to defeat Finance Committee amendments which would restrict the reciprocal trade program.

They apparently could count on help from the Democratic leadership. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said he opposed two of the principal amendments.

Committee Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said he understood the debate might begin by the middle of next week. A bitter battle was in prospect.

The House had passed a five-year extension by the program in substantially the form President Eisenhower asked. But the Senate Finance Committee, in approving the bill Thursday, added a series of amendments which would limit the President's powers in negotiating lower tariffs with other countries.

The administration indicated today it was not too seriously concerned about one of the changes — to cut the extension period from five to three years. A four-year compromise with the House is possible on this. The same amendment cut from 25 to 15 per cent the maximum tariff reduction.

But Commerce and State Department officials took sharp issue with another amendment designed to protect domestic industries which claim damage from import quotas or higher tariffs under imports. In such cases, the Tariff what is called the escape clause, but the President now can reject the recommendations if he sees fit.

Under the Senate amendment, adopted 8-7, he could do so only if both the Senate and House approved by majority vote. The change also would provide that a tie vote of the six-member Tariff Commission should be considered a finding in favor of the industry.

The biggest floor fight promises to center on this amendment.

The administration strongly opposed another amendment adopted by the committee which would require that, in negotiating new trade pacts, no tariff could be cut more than 5 per cent in any one year.

Mouse Missile Still Missing

Planes Search Vast Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Three specially equipped Air Force planes skimmed over the Atlantic early today in a last-resort search for a vital top-secret nose cone and its mouse passenger.

The nose cone, a highly advanced design that may spearhead the missiles of the future, splashed into the Atlantic near Ascension Island after the first successful U. S. ballistic missile flight through space at intercontinental range.

The impact area was 1,000 miles off the African coast and more than 6,000 miles from the Cape Canaveral launching site where a Thor-Able rocket blasted into space Wednesday night.

The Air Force announced that the missile's flight and re-entry into the earth's fiery atmosphere was a complete success, but attempts to retrieve the nose cone had been stymied.

The mouse was housed in an airtight capsule inside the cone. It was the first living creature to fly so far into space aboard a U.S. missile.

Officials said search units had trouble pinpointing the location because a small automatic radio transmitter inside the cone failed to operate rapidly.

Sporadic signals have been picked up, but they were too weak to provide direction.

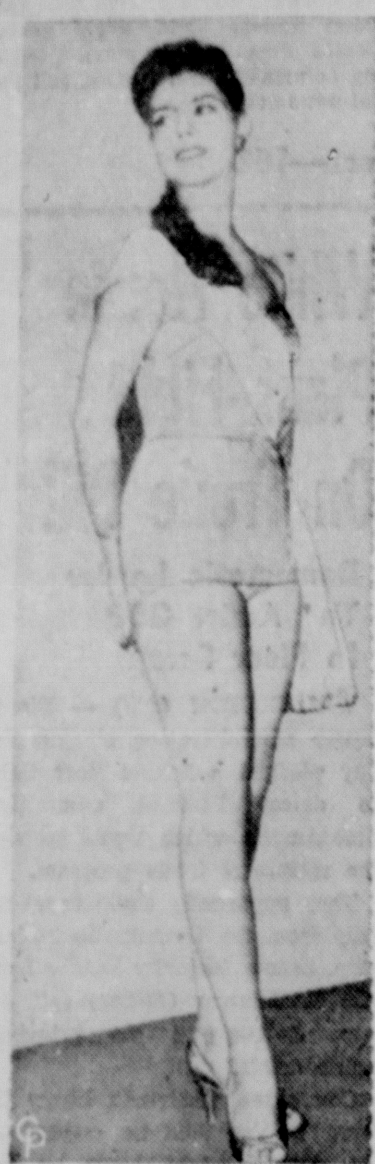

Storm Nears Iwo

TOKYO (AP) — The 500 American sailors and airmen on Iwo Jima prepared today for winds up to 50 m.p.h. as Typhoon Viola swirled north in the Pacific.

The 100-mile-wide storm is expected to pass west of the World War II battlefront by Saturday, the U. S. Air Force said.

Oxygen Spaceships Near

By REX STANLEY
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper
What was once only theory for America's scientists — an Earth-circling spaceship that would manufacture its own fuel and fly almost forever—is rapidly becoming a hard reality.
The preliminary design for such a space vehicle, capable of endless flight without refueling or landing, has been completed under U. S. Air Force contract. The spaceship would carry a full crew of observers and orbit the Earth at about 60 miles altitude.
It would be propelled by ramjet much like today's guided missiles, fly at speeds up to 18,000 miles per hour, and take its power from a curious reaction between sunlight and upper-air oxygen.

Golfing with ALEX MORRISON Teacher of Champions

Tommy Bolt's remarkable self control while winning the 1958 U. S. Open offers a top lesson for all golfers.

THE ENTIRE golf world should congratulate Tommy Bolt on his winning of the 1958 U. S. Open. It was truly a great victory, proving a point of unlimited value to all golfers. Not only did Tommy completely dominate a huge field of the world's best golfers, competing over a course rated as the toughest ever used for the national Open, but he also demonstrated self control possibly greater than any ever shown by any U. S. Open winner including Bobby Jones and Ben Hogan.
In addition to completely surmounting obstacles of peak tournament competition it replaced Bolt's lifelong habit of yielding to a trigger temper.
Tommy explained: "I realized that my outbursts over bad shots weren't getting me any place so I decided to control myself."
He demonstrated that self control is something done within yourself, a sure way to better scores.

Harris said Goldfine's East Boston Co., a holding firm, had gone for eight years without filing reports required by the Securities and Exchange Commission.
Next Harris had the subcommittee counsel, Robert W. Lishman, read a specific question about a $20,000 withdrawal he alleged Goldfine made from a subsidiary of the company. Goldfine declined to answer this question yesterday, saying it was not pertinent to the investigation.
"Mr. Lishman," Goldfine firmly replied today, "I respectfully decline to answer because the matter is not relevant."
Goldfine said the question went into his own business affairs rather than the matter of regulatory agencies. And furthermore, he said, the subject is under judicial inquiry.
Harris asked if Goldfine considered Lishman's question not pertinent.
"Yes sir, I do," Goldfine said. Harris ruled the question was indeed relevant to the inquiry.
"Therefore I direct you to answer, Mr. Goldfine," Harris said. "Mr. Chairman," Goldfine persisted, "I decline to answer for the reasons given before."

U.S. Buys Own Bonds to Bolster Price

Speculators Get Blame for Shaky Money Market

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Some of Uncle Sam's bonds have been having a hard time in the market. So the U. S. Treasury has been buying up its own recent issues to reduce the oversupply.

The aim is to bolster prices and to keep the weakness from spreading to other issues—including new offerings by states and municipalities, some of which have had rough sailing this week.

Unsettling of the general bond and money markets at this stage of the recession would be painful to the economy. Also, the Treasury needs a strong market because it must raise a lot more cash in coming months.

Speculators operating on thin margins get most of the blame for the sharp drop in the price of the 2 1/2 per cent issue of June 15. They put up a little cash on the original price of the bonds, hoping to make a quick killing by selling at a profit. Instead, the price soon weakened and in recent days dropped sharply as speculators began dumping their thinly protected holdings.

But part of the trouble seems to be that the Treasury found itself issuing more of these six-year eight-month bonds than it had planned. It thought it knew how many of the bonds would be bought by commercial banks in its exchange offer for other securities coming due.

Instead, almost 7 1/2 billion dollars were taken by banks—and obviously by speculators thinking they could take a quick ride at a profit. That supply seems to be more than the bond market was ready to support.

Uncle Sam was able to buy up some of these bonds and retire them because at the moment he was flush. The Treasury gets short of cash now and then. But the June income tax payments swelled its cash to 10 billion dollars.

Between June 19 and July 9 the Treasury bought 436 million dollars of its harassed issue and retired them. It bought 133 1/2 million dollars more for the account of government investment funds such as Social Security. And for these funds it also bought about five million dollars of the 3 1/4 per cent 27 year bonds issued June 3 when it raised more than a billion dollars in new cash. That was before the income tax payments and Uncle Sam both needed money and saw a chance to extend the maturity time of some of his debt.

Some think that if the Treasury's announcement of its purchases doesn't settle the bond market, it may go on buying more. Others think that most of the speculators have been shaken out of the market now and are off some where licking their financial wounds.

But the turmoil in the bond market aroused concern. It was credited some days with unsettling the stock market. And bankers are wondering if it won't complicate the Treasury's future money raising task. With a federal deficit of 10 to 11 billion dollars expected in the fiscal year just started, the Treasury may have to go to the market frequently.

John Wayne meets a very young fan of his on the set during the filming of 'The Barbarian' in Japan. The delight seems to be mutual.

Acting Comes as 'Vacation' For Still Popular John Wayne

—WITH ART—
By ARMAND ARCHERD
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — You wonder if John Wayne is as tough as his movie roles would have him be? Well, he's back from Japan and the filming of "The Barbarian" during which he fought a 360-pound Japanese wrestler; was thrown by a judo expert, rowed miles through rain and rough seas, helped fight a potentially-disastrous fire on the set, in addition to his usual feats of strength. His comment: "What a lovely vacation."

John (Duke) Wayne, actor, producer, businessman and soon to become a director, says that "merely" acting in a movie constitutes a vacation.

"When you're only the star of a film," he said, "you don't really have any worries. If the weather should close in on you, you just sit around and enjoy yourself, play cards with the crew. However, if you're the producer of the film and it's raining, and that crew is on your payroll, it's tough to enjoy the card game—even if you're winning."

"It's the same if I'm in a fight scene and, say, I get hurt. Well, I just go off the payroll. The poor producer, however, has to worry about the delay in the entire production, in addition to maybe feeling sorry for me. I said maybe!"

Despite all this, Wayne will not only produce his next film, but will star in it and direct as well. The film is "The Alamo," for his Batjac company. It's slated to start in August—if weather conditions are suitable to Wayne, the producer.

When asked why he was deliberately adding responsibilities to his successful career and company, Wayne answered, "Have you ever met an actor who agreed 100 per cent with a director?" (Even if the director happened to be someone like John Huston, his "Barbarian" director, or John Ford, Wayne's closest pal?)

"Most of the time," he continued, "an actor is hammy enough to think he can improve on things if they were done his way. And I'm thickheaded enough to think I've learned something over the years I've worked in this business. I'd like to try out some ideas

I have, and I'm honest enough to try them out spending my own company's money!"

Although Wayne says that acting, by itself, is a "vacation," he is forced to admit that this is a pretty free use of the word. Actually on "The Barbarian" as on all of his films, Wayne maintains an attitude of strict professionalism. And, if getting up at 5, and working through till dark, sometimes seven days a week, is a vacation, he can have it!

A reported from a Japanese newspaper was particularly impressed that Wayne showed up to act in the scenes in which he was not photographed — in particular scenes in which his fellow performer, Eiko Ando, was being close-upped.

"It wasn't a matter of being polite," Wayne laughed when the Japanese story was read to him. "It was just a matter of doing the right thing. An actor in a close-up has the right to play a scene with the appropriate actors in the cast. This business of asking an actor in close-up to play the scene to a dialogue coach who sits in for an actor off-camera is idiotic." (Most big stars shun doing off-camera scenes!)

It's no secret that Wayne, in the past, has been known to be capable of sporadic bursts of hard-living. For example: some time back, while Wayne was filming "Wings of Eagles" in Pensacola, Fla., he had no call for the next morning. So, Wayne and a group of Navy flyers went out on the town, rolling in at 5 in the morning! Director John Ford, who inspired Wayne's career, observed the hour of Wayne's return. It was only 15 minutes later when Wayne was ordered to report for work!

"I didn't do anything all day," "Duke" recalls, "except to stand next to Ford while he directed the other actors. It was 115 degrees in the shade. It possibly was the longest day experienced by anyone in all the history of mankind."

"This was Ford's way of punishing me, of course. However, I learned when a fellow is making a picture, he should always be ready for work. And from that day I always am!"

Imagine what happens to any actor, working for Wayne in the "Alamo," who considers acting merely a vacation?

Celebrezze Finds Senate "Exclusive"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze learned how exclusive the Senate cloak room is Wednesday. He came here to testify before the House Banking and Currency Committee on a housing and urban renewal program.

He lunched with Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), his old friend and political mentor. The junior senator then suggested that Celebrezze accompany him to the cloak room of the Senate, a body that prides itself as "the world's most exclusive club."

"This is the mayor of Cleveland," explained Lausche to the doorkeeper as the pair opened a door marked "private."

"I'm sorry, Senator," the guard replied. "But mayors are not permitted to enter."

"Oh," said Lausche. "Is this only for senators?"

"Senators and governors," the guard replied.

Celebrezze, who finished second in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor of Ohio in May, smiled broadly.

"I'll come back in four years," he quipped.

Mafia Has Hold on Underworld

It is difficult to ascertain the extent to which the black "Mafia" society controls the U. S. underworld. To hear some "insiders" discuss it, one would get the impression that nearly all crime in the country is under the thumb of the Sicilian masters of that organization.

Other law enforcement officials discount the Mafia's influence, contending that the ties involved are more American than Sicilian.

No matter the origin or nationality of the "syndicate," it does exist. This can be confirmed by any good crime reporter in the larger cities of this country.

It is a nationwide network involving gambling, prostitution, narcotics, and other vice. It is the grandchild of the old prohibition-era syndicates of which the Capone organization was the most spectacular.

One reason why its activities are so hard to nail down is that it is heavily involved in legitimate business. In addition, it has good lawyers to advise its leaders how to avoid being caught on nonpayment of income taxes — the favorite way of trapping gangsters of old.

There is a fertile field here for Congress to investigate — not only the Mafia, but why law enforcement in this connection seems to have broken down.

The syndicate's hold on the American underworld probably cannot be broken entirely. But extensive disclosure could ferret out the most dangerous of its leaders and make its operations less lucrative and therefore less attractive to potential hoodlums.

Fiscal Year Poses Problems

Since July 1 it would have been in order for any of President Eisenhower's visitors to wish him a happy new year — fiscal, that is. The sentiments would have been appreciated, too, for the sad prospect is that the federal government will have a whale-sized deficit by next June 30.

Already there is talk of another increase in the national debt ceiling, now $280 billion, on the heels of the deficit in the 1958 fiscal year which bobbed up in place of the surplus which had been predicted at the beginning of the year.

This year's deficit will be a whopper because spending will be a great deal bigger than it was last year — perhaps $8 billion more. The government's income cannot be expected to rise much above what it is now (in the neighborhood of $70 billion a year, so the deficit can easily top $10 billion. And a deficit of this magnitude brings problems.

It is big enough to create inflationary pressures, which are bound to be troublesome. Right now it seems a little premature to worry about inflation — there are some hopeful signs that the trend has been easing — but there's no question that the wind will soon be rising again.

If economy had been practiced by Washington over the years, the government and the taxpayers would be better off. But spending is still proceeding on the theory that money grows on trees.

Courtin' Main

Washington pundits must have been mighty tired of what they had been writing about, judging by the way they took after Sherman Adams.

Gals Getting Out of Hand?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — When producer Leland Hayward decided to film Ernest Hemingway's "The Old Man and the Sea," Hemingway warned him: "This one will be hard to do."

"You'll be dealing with the sun and the moon and the stars and fish and God. You're not used to dealing with these things. It won't be easy," he said.

Recalling the warning three years and five million dollars later, Hayward observed wryly: "The Lord knows he was right. I never spent so much time on one project."

The completed picture runs only an hour and a half. There are those in the industry who figure it may be as big a financial turkey as Hayward's last picture, "The Spirit of St. Louis," another five-million-dollar venture which failed to get off the ground.

Hayward, a former newspaperman and press agent who made his first million at 23 and went on to become one of Broadway's most fabulous producers, seems unworried.

"If you twisted my arm, I'd say we'll get our money eventually," he said cheerfully.

"It should have a big world market. The book was translated into 42 languages. The theme is universal—that man is not made for defeat, that he can be destroyed, but not defeated. It sums up Hemingway's whole philosophy."

Hayward, who runs an airline among other sideline chores, is a philosopher as well as a producer.

He sometimes has the melancholy feeling that the American people have already lost out in the world struggle "because we let ourselves get too soft." He also believes U. S. ladies have gotten out of hand.

"Our culture is against the male," he said. "I think women are more honest and realistic and less sentimental than men. "But I don't think as a rule American women are as attractive as other women. We ruin them by spoiling them. We ruin them by corrupting them by killing ourselves working for them."

"They are now 60 per cent of the population, live several years longer than men, own 80 per cent of the wealth."

"In another 20 years they will own everything."

Well, wouldn't that solve a lot of problems and make for a better universe? Hayward shook his head.

"You can't blame women for thinking they should run the world," he said. "As a civilization, we have steadily spoiled them more and more, spoiled them to death."

"But women have failed in the bigger issues. They got the vote — but what have they done with it?"

"I am a pessimist about what they will do with total power, when they get it."

A Comparative Cost of Living By George Sokolsky

Many, many years ago, when I was associated with the National Assn. of Manufacturers, some of the hired help got into a great discussion as to how to measure a standard of living. There had always been large talk on how high and superior the American standard of living is but how does anyone really know? What is the yardstick that can be universally applied?

So we worked it out on the basis of how many hours of labor does a man have to sell to buy a pound of butter, a loaf of bread, a glass of water, a pair of shoes, a shirt, a dress, etc. We found, after careful research, that not only was the American standard of living high but that, in comparison with many other countries, the cost of living, measured in terms of labor, was low.

Now along comes the AFL-CIO, Department of International Affairs, with a chart that brings such studies up-to-date. In fact, they do a more complete job because, in addition to showing what the situation is now, they make a comparison with 1938.

The ultimate test of Communism, even from the standpoint of dialectical materialism, will not be how many nations the Kremlin will reduce to its will and power, but what happens to the people of those countries, what is done for their general welfare. For instance, in Albania, according to this AFL-CIO chart, in 1938 it cost a man 205 hours to buy a suit of clothes, but in 1957, it cost 513. Something obviously is wrong there. The hours of labor should have been reduced as the country moved from a revolutionary to a stabilized condition.

If we take the United States as the norm, only because we live here, it takes a man 33 hours, 10 minutes of labor to buy a suit of clothes and in Soviet Russia, it takes 350 hours of work for the same purpose. When one realizes that 350 hours is nearly 44 working days of 8 hours each, it is an enormous price to pay for one suit of clothes.

Let us have a look at one pound of bread. In the United States, that costs a worker five minutes of labor and we complain about the high cost of living. In Soviet Russia, which used to be called the granary of the world, it takes 11 minutes of work to get that pound of bread. In Albania, 22 minutes; in Bulgaria, 23 minutes; in Poland, 20 minutes.

Mere figures do not explain what this means. In the Iron Curtain countries, bread is still the staff of life, the principal article of food in every household. Nobody there can say that if bread is too dear, let them use a cake mix. They have no cake mix and would not eat it.

This study, currently made, has enormous implications because how long can a people be inadequately fed and clothed and take the pabulum of Utopian promises as compensation? Of course, those who go on personally conducted tours do not see what the life of the people is in 8,500,000 square miles, nor could one in a life-time of exploration and research. Furthermore, unless one has been studying economic and social standards in these various countries since 1917, it is impossible to form a judgment.

The question that arises, then, is how authentic are the AFL-CIO figures? The chart states that the figures are based on the most authoritative sources, but the sources are not given. From the context of the printed matter, it would appear that the figures are taken from Soviet publications. It would have been better had the sources been published so that no question as to authenticity can arise. If we accept the data in the AFL-CIO chart, the conclusion must be reached that as regards certain essential articles of food and clothing, the standard of living in Iron Curtain countries continues to go down.

It would be interesting if the same type of examination were made for the 100 commodities most consumed in the United States. Let us take a stenographer as an example. What does she consume in the course of a year in the United States; what does a similarly employed girl, working identical hours, consume in Soviet Russia, Rumania and Red China? What a story that would tell!

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

REVIVED: the story of the little man homeward bound from a festive office party. He consulted his watch. It was 7 p.m. From the taxi window, he next spotted a clock outside a jewelry store. It registered 6:55. Then he asked a driver for the time. "The time," was the answer, "is exactly 6:50."

"Turn around fast," implored the little man. "I'm going in the wrong direction!"

Texas, of course, is the largest state in the union, but how many of you can name the following five in their proper order? Your list made? Well, here they are: California, Montana, New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada.

Jones had just flubbed his fourth shot in the same trap one Sunday morning. "The way I'm playing golf," he muttered disgustedly, "I might just as well have gone to church."

Information on Hearing Aids

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

A silent world is a lonely one. If you are hard of hearing, don't wait any longer. See your physician or an ear specialist tomorrow to determine whether a hearing aid can bring back those sounds—screaming horns, clattering trains, the whisper of a loved one—that are such an important part of our daily lives.

If the doctor says your hearing loss can be aided by a hearing device—and most hearing difficulties can — get one as quickly as possible.

But this is a big but, get one which best benefits your particular condition. While you should consult with your doctor about which aid is most likely to help you are the final judge.

I've given you a few tips in the past to help you select a hearing aid. Now I'd like to pass on a few more from Better Hearing Magazine. You should judge a hearing aid on the following points:

1. Performance. This is most important. Make sure the aid delivers enough power for your particular hearing loss. Remember, the function of an aid is to bring sound back into your life as richly and as quickly as possible.

2. Cost per hour of operation. Economy of operation is important, of course, since you will be paying for its use continually. A good conventional aid can be operated for one tenth of a cent an hour. Some very tiny aids cost six times as much to operate.

Let me inject one more tip on economy. Be sure to remove the batteries from your aid or turn it off each night when you go to bed. Not only will this prevent exhaustion of the batteries but it will prevent those that have been used longer than recommended from leaking and damaging your hearing aid.

3. Size. Don't sacrifice good hearing for small size. A miniature aid may or may not be best for you. Find out about the comparative power output and operating cost before you purchase any aid.

4. Initial Cost. Excellent aids are available at moderate prices. Generally, a miniature aid will cost more than corresponding conventional types.

5. Appearance. There is a wide range of models available. Some have elegant designs, some are inconspicuous. Choose one that suits your individual taste and harmonizes with the way you dress.

The World Today

By James Marlow

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a small but influential group in Washington, known simply as "The Four," which suspects that the hardest economic battle remains to be fought — and is girding for it.

The enemy won't be recession but inflation. The signs of business upturn have been noted hopefully; it appears that a modest recovery may be under way this fall.

If so, the recovery will coincide with the start of a new era of federal deficit financing on a vast scale, and the combined pressures of rising private and government demand could generate another serious surge of inflation.

That's what "The Four" have been worrying about for some time now.

It was concern over inflation which brought the group into existence last September as an unofficial body lacking formal name or legal status.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson watched the value of the dollar sink to new lows month by month, and broached his idea to President Eisenhower.

The idea was simply that the officials directly concerned with money, credit and federal finance — himself and Chairman William McC. Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board — should consult jointly and quite frequently with the President and his top economic advisers. The latter are Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and Gabriel Hauge, presidential assistant for economic affairs.

Eisenhower concurred. Since then he has averaged a meeting a month with the four officials.

The meetings had hardly begun when the problems of recession took priority over the problems of inflation. Spending speedups, easier money and lower interest rates were the obvious answers.

To put the brake back on—ever so gently at first to prevent a relapse — will be a more delicate job. But all of "The Four" are determined that there will be no repetition of the events that followed the 1953-54 recession. Before people realized the recession was over, the recovery blossomed into a buying binge, and an inflation that hasn't been stopped yet.

Already "The Four" are weighing the variety of ideas — just about everything short of direct wage and price controls — to keep prices from shooting the moon.

The country's success, all admit, will depend greatly on the alertness and courage of the Federal Reserve Board in pulling the credit reins at the right moment, and then feeding out no more credit than is needed to permit an orderly, sustainable growth.

But success also will depend on the readiness of the administration to cooperate when the board decides to move, and the mere existence "The Four" may help to weld a united front.

The inflationary wallop of a 10 to 12 billion dollars deficit in the government year just starting, Anderson believes, may be minimized through better scheduling of the government's spending programs. Every program starts modestly and builds up to a spending peak. To prevent the peaks from developing simultaneously, Anderson hopes it will be possible to hold some programs back while others go ahead.

In addition, the improved federal-state relationship fostered in the past year or two may be utilized, the secretary thinks, to prevent the federal government from pouring money into military or civilian projects in an area where a state is simultaneously making big public works investments. One or the other might delay its project for a year.

These are just samples of the kind of ideas which "The Four" are entertaining as they try to look beyond the recession.

Glass Firm Develops New Building Unit

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Owens-Illinois Glass Co. Thursday announced development of a glass curtain wall building product which transmits diffused daylight into a room while turning back the hottest rays of the sun.

This is accomplished by a prismatic effect built into the basic unit, a 2-inch thick, 12-inch square of hollow glass.

In construction, the units are assembled in aluminum framed panels with a quick-setting cementitious material and the panels are fastened to vertical aluminum struts and interlocked by use of an ordinary screwdriver.

The finished walls are able to withstand wind-driven rain of hurricane velocity, the spokesman said.

The glass units can be made in white, blue-green and yellow color and interspersed with opaque panels in other colors and facings.

Highway Agent Gets Suspension

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 440-a-month right-of-way agent that the Ohio Department of Highways claims has not been putting in a full working day will be suspended from his job for 30 days beginning July 23.

He is Eugene N. Sisk of Geneva-on-the-Lake, who has been working in the Ashtabula County Courthouse at Jefferson checking titles for land the department needs.

Highway Director Charles M. Noble, who signed the suspension notice, said the department has affidavits asserting Sisk did not put in full 8-hour working days and incorrectly reported automobile mileage.

The 3,000 miles of unguarded border (between the U.S. and Canada) are something that no two nations have ever enjoyed before, says the Standstead, Quebec, Journal. The Journal assigns such peaceful amity to "mutual understanding and trust."

House of Tomorrow May Have Triangles Which Can Fold

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHICAGO — A house that you can fold up like an accordion and take along with you is the domicile of tomorrow, in the estimation of Prof. Richard E. Baringer, director of the shelter department at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

It does not bother him at all that he is defying the Biblical parable against building your house on shifting sand instead of bed rock, as he constructs a tryout of his radical departure design on the Indiana dunes near here.

Professor Baringer believes that many Americans have become rolling stones, and they ought to be able to gather enough moss to have a house made up of triangular units that, like the Arab with his tent, they can fold and quickly steal away.

He points to the many trailer dwellers in the nation today, and contends that it makes more sense to build truly portable houses than "stay-put trucks." Also he does not see why the present prefabricated house is portable only one way—to the building site. Why not make it truly portable, so that it also can be knocked down and moved easily?

The triangle is the basic building form, says Professor Baringer, so he has made it the unit of his design, which he says proves that there are three sides to every home question.

"The triangle is the most stable natural shape because there is a complete resolution of forces," he says. "The reason it has not been used up to now is because present building materials come mainly in rectangles."

In his design, the triangular lightweight panel is used for structure and framework. Triangular roof panels will be made of either aluminum or plastic.

The whole structure will be anchored to a base, and will require no vertical roof supports because the triangles will hold up each other without need of outside supports. There is no basement, of course.

Doors and windows will be triangular, too, consisting of three-sided glass wall inserts serving both functions. By simply adding panels, the house can be expanded easily to add rooms as a family grows.

To begin with, Professor Baringer suggests a layout consisting of living room, dining area, kitchen, two bedrooms, and a bath and utility "core" unit in the center of the house which makes use of a new conception of no ducts or wiring in the structure of the building itself.

The panels are "sandwiched" with built-in insulation, and even the perpendicular walls are hinged. Each modular unit contains 300 square feet, which is enough living space for eight people if necessary, he calculated.

He does not go along with current trends to "bring the outdoors in," nor the older school of architectural design to "keep the outdoors out." Instead, he has a philosophy that "a house is a definite man-made entity against the landscape." Striking through the design is, it is expected to blend with most surroundings, nevertheless.

Will the public accept it? Professor Baringer has no qualms about that, and confidently maintains that "when the public sees house like these around, they'll want them. The more that are built, the more they'll desire."

His only worry is how to meet the demand, and institute technicians are conferring with manufacturers on specifications for the distinctive triangular panels that are its basic unit.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 18 and Bobby is 20. I have known him for almost a year. Last November, because we had a little mix-up, I married a man nine years older than I, whom I didn't love.

We have been separated since the first of January and once in April we went back together for a week but it just wouldn't work. Divorce is a certainty.

I didn't tell Bobby where I was for quite a while—several weeks, to be exact. Last week I saw him again and he had given himself to Christ, in the Church of God, since the last time we met.

At this meeting we made a date for the following evening, and during this date he did nothing but talk about how he was wilfully sinning by dating a married woman. He knew what he was doing when he wanted to make the date—so why, in the course of the date, should he feel guilty?

His big argument is that in the 5th chapter of Matthew's gospel, it says that marrying a divorced person is the same as adultery, and he would want to marry me eventually if we start going together again. Can you explain that portion of God's Word, and also the meaning of fornication?

Anyone can make a mistake, but there is no chance of a divorced person's making a happy marriage to a Christian, without breaking the law of God?

I love Bobby very much and I feel he loves me; but should I forget him now? I want him to continue serving the Lord. Am I being selfish or just uncomprehending? I would appreciate your comment.

Z.L.

DEAR Z.L.: Your approach to marriage is exceedingly careless, it seems to me. And Bobby ought to beware of you, as a source of temptation, for that reason if for no other.

I gather that he has been deeply shaken by your scatterbrain trifling with his devotion, and perhaps also the feelings of the man you married. And that he has turned to Christ, in the Church of God, in search of deliverance from vast confusion.

Speaking of God's word concerning marriage and divorce, as recorded in Matthew 5:32, here is the authorized King James (protestant) version of Our Lord's statement:

"But I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery; and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery."

How do I explain this? Well, it suggests in part that bonafide marriage is a sacramental achievement, a spiritual covenant that somehow brings God into partnership with the human alliance—thus giving the alliance a supra-human character, which mankind cannot afterwards dissolve.

Further, it implies that fornication—sex immorality prior to marriage—disqualifies a person for sacramental marriage. That is, if one cloaks the sin and acts deceitfully. Presumably, however, the sacrament of penance—contrition, confession, renunciation of the sin, etc.—if resorted to, before marriage, would restore one's moral credit in the divine economy.

The selfish person who discards a real spouse, truly married by sacramental ties, because he (or she) has a yen to try another partner, is consigning the injured party to outer darkness, to loss of integrity. And whoever marries the divorced person is likewise venturing into outer darkness, according to Matthew 5:32.

What is outer darkness? It is, I think, a state of existence in which the human creature has lost awareness of the "inner light," his very personal spiritual frontier, his potential of growing into higher consciousness. (Remember: the Kingdom of Heaven is within).

In this blackout state, he exists somewhere between the life of the beast and the life of humanity. He cannot increase his inner life, thus becoming vitally human, because he's off the beam of that possibility. Neither can he become the unknowing animal. He simply suffers and gropes on planes of confusion, unless by God's grace he finds a road back to the inner light.

Back-Seat Driving Makes Good Career

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Margo Wood is a glamorous green-eyed Southern belle who has made a career of back-seat driving.

Every day she tells scores of men drivers where to go, and they love it. Many write her letters of thanks for steering them right. And to top it all off, she gets paid for this.

As head of a major touring center in New York City, Margo directs the activities of a staff of six girls who advise motorists on routes, highways, scenic tours and map-reading.

"I guess I was born to be a back-seat driver," she says. "When I was in school my favorite subject was geography and my favorite hobby making maps. When I got married my husband used to travel a lot, and I always went along, road map in hand, and steered him around detours and road hazards. He didn't mind a bit. In fact he grew to depend on me as motoring first mate. After all, a man can't drive a car, watch the road and read a map all at the same time."

Margo started her business career as a receptionist for the War Production Board in Washington during the war and rapidly progressed to the job of assistant to the chief of the crane and shovel division. In this capacity she was responsible for allocation of road-building equipment, and got her first intensive training on the status of the nation's highways.

She continued her road work after the war, attending meetings of highway contractors and road-builders. After the death of her husband she took her present job in 1952.

As a veteran driver, both back-seat and front-seat, she has some advice for wives: "If you want to be popular with your husband, learn to read road maps. Don't just sit there and nag him when you're on the road together. If you'll take the trouble you can be a real help as chief navigator. And your husband will be grateful, instead of annoyed."

WAS SHE RUN OVER?—Tire marks on the face of 2-year-old Ronna Faith Casteel of La Puente, Calif., would seem to prove she was run over by the family car when the emergency brake slipped. But law enforcement officers and physicians say it seems impossible that she received no more than a dirty face. A neighbor witness, who stopped the car, said she was run over. X-rays showed no injuries. Ronna demonstrates, with her doll, how she was run over.

Chicago Underworld Boss Accardo Lives Lavishly

CHICAGO (AP)—Tony Accardo, swarthy boss of the Chicago underworld, is husky, ill-tempered gang lord who lives in lavish style in a huge, ornate home in one of Chicago's most exclusive suburbs.

Often termed the successor to the late gang leader Al Capone, for whom he served as bodyguard, the 52-year-old Accardo is under subpoena to appear before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington during current hearings into underworld activities.

It's not likely that the committee will get much information out of the tight-lipped gang boss. Another Senate committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) tried in 1951 but got nowhere. Accardo gave the committee little more than his name.

Always well tailored, Accardo is a solidly built man of about 5 feet 10 inches and weighs nearly 200 pounds. Dark complexioned, he has dark hair, graying at the temples. His right hand bears the tattoo of a dove.

With his wife and three children, he lives in a big stone mansion in suburban River Forest worth an estimated half-million dollars. Handsomely landscaped, the Accardo home is surrounded by a high wrought-iron fence. The home has 22 rooms, an indoor swimming pool, two bowling alleys, a pipe organ, six master bedrooms.

He Got Wet-Inside!

ANGOLA, Ind. (P)—An unoccupied boat anchored in the center of Jimmerson Lake, containing a fishing pole baited and ready for use, set conservation officers to dragging the lake.

After two hours of futile work under the hot sun they called for a skin diver. While they were waiting they found the angler drinking beer in a cool lakeside tavern. He said two thirsty friends had rowed past on their way to the tavern, and he had changed boats and joined them.

Officers withheld the fisherman's name while they searched for a charge that would apply.

Beauty Precautions For the Outdoor Girl

Outdoor life has loads of advantages.

Go in for under-sun sports, such as tennis, riding and golf, or water activities, such as swimming and water-skiing, and you're bound to improve your figure, pep up circulation, have a more graceful carriage.

Fresh air exercise is wonderfully beneficial but watch out for a few drawbacks:

1. Don't over-tan. A famed beauty expert says American women go in too heavily for sun-worship. Day after day, they're out toasting. A heavy tan, claims this famous lady, makes skin leathery, ages its appearance. It takes an entire winter to recondition such skin. By that time, it's

Local Women Attending School

During this past week three women from Calvary EUB church have been attending a "Laboratory School" for children's workers at Westerville.

Mrs. Russell Archer, Mrs. W. C. Shasteen and Mrs. H. Dale Rough were among fifty other children's workers who are in attendance.

The school is sponsored by the General Board of Christian of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, with headquarters in Dayton.

Miss Rachel Brandt is the general secretary for children's work for the EUB Church.

Household Hints

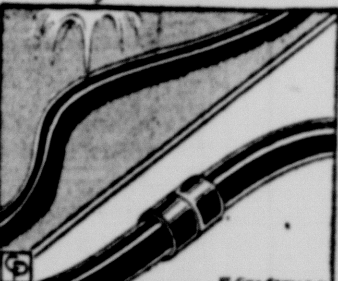

Many Chinese dishes use sauces made with chicken stock or bouillon, soy sauce, garlic and sugar, and are thickened with cornstarch. If you are improvising one of these gravies, remember that 1 tablespoon of cornstarch has the thickening power of 2 tablespoons of flour.

Do you remember to read a recipe through, from beginning to end, before you attempt to follow it? If you do, you'll know what ingredients and utensils are needed; and most important, you'll know whether it is written clearly enough for you to make the dish successfully.

Cookies that contain a large amount of shortening often may be baked on ungreased cookie sheets.

Remainder for summer cooks: When you turn the oven on in order to bake potatoes, make up a batch of muffins (from scratch or a mix), too. Both potatoes and muffins may be baked at a hot (425 degrees) temperature.

Wife Preservers

Fix a garden-hose leak yourself by cutting out the damaged part and joining the ends with a metal hose mender.

YOUR STOCK of beauty supplies should include a ladies' razor. In summer, especially, it's needed to keep legs smooth.

Basic Beauty Supplies Every Woman Requires

Taken stock of beauty supplies lately? It's a good idea to go over aids and cosmetics periodically, check what you have on hand, make sure you're not missing anything necessary in the constant battle for beauty every woman wages.

The following check list will help you with the job.

1. Cleansing cream or good-quality soap to remove make-up.
2. Lubricating cream for dry skin; pore-closing astringent for oily skin.
3. Facial masks to make skin glow. Use a mask at least once weekly.
4. Facial tissues.
5. Powder in two shades—skin-matching for daytime, a slightly lighter tone for evening.
6. Three lipstick shades, so you'll have a variety to go with every dress in your closet.
7. Three shades of rouge to match your lipstick wardrobe.
8. Mascara in cake, tube or wand form, whichever you find easiest to apply. Black or brown may be sufficient but, if you go in for date-time glamour, include a daring mascara shade such as blue.
9. Eye shadow.
10. Eyebrow pencil (and this is optional) liner pencil if you use one. Many women don't.
11. Eyelash curler—a necessity if lashes are short and straight.
12. Tweezers to keep brows neatly groomed.
13. Shampoo. It's wise to buy the king-size bottle, so you never run short of this weekly necessity.
14. Hair spray. A newcomer to vanity tables, a spray is indispensable when it's time for a fast setting job. It also gives locks luster.
15. A hairbrush for those 100 strokes nightly.
16. Scented soap.
17. Bath salts, oil or bubbles.
18. Cologne, toilet water or after-bath lotion.

19. Dusting powder.
20. Complete manicure kit with remover, polish and all necessary tools.
21. Deodorant.
22. Depilatory or ladies' razor to keep legs smooth.
23. Perfume.

The above is a basic list of 23 beauty items every attractive woman should have on hand. How many of these can you check off?

You can mix two parts of unsalted vegetable shortening with one part of flour and use it to coat the inside of a pan in which a butter-type cake is to be baked.

Christian Vocation Topic For EUB Women's Society

The Woman's Society of World Service of the First EUB Church met last night in the service center, due to the rain the picnic which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. James Pierce was postponed.

Mrs. Howard Conley, president, presided over the business session. There were 16 members and three visitors present. Reports from the standing committees were given.

The closing prayer of the business meeting was given by Miss Lucille Kirkwood and Mrs. Ed Millions.

Mrs. Alvin Perdon presented the program using for her topic "Strengthen the Church Through Vocation." "My Master Was a Worker" was sung by the group.

The scripture lesson was given by Mrs. Perdon, followed by silent prayer by the group, which was closed by Mrs. Montford Kirkwood Sr.

A condensed report on the book "The Christian at His Daily Work" was given by Miss Gladys Noggle. "Oh Jesus I have Promised" was the offertory piano solo presented by Mrs. Pierce.

The group, divided into three groups, were given a set of questions pertaining to Christian vocation. A reporter for each group presented the answers. The reporters were: Mrs. Frank Hawks, Mrs. Porter Martin and Miss Kirkwood.

Hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. O. F. Gibbs and Mrs. Millions.

Life on the moon—as some starry-eyed, would-be lunar immigrants visualize it.

Homesteading on Moon

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The federal government anticipates a substantial increase in applications for land upon the moon, now that serious efforts have been announced to reach Earth's luminous satellite.

Several hundred have already filed their claims and to those, and to others contemplating such action, the government has only one reply, "Sorry, we're not accepting applications."

Dwight F. Rietz, acting information officer of the Interior Department's land management bureau, said that, subject to further, as yet unforeseen, developments, applicants will be advised that "it is not now, nor has it ever been, possible for anyone to make application for or obtain the rights to land on the moon or planets through the United States government."

"The United States has as yet made no claim to any territory beyond the Earth," said Rietz. "To our knowledge, there are no specific provisions of national or international law covering outer space."

"If any private firms or individuals have made such claims and have sold or granted parcels of outer-space land, these private claims are not made under the provisions of any specific federal law or territorial claim."

"Until there is some legal basis for regarding such lands as public lands of the United States," concluded Rietz, "there is no means or method by which they may be officially claimed or obtained by anyone."

The land management bureau has been receiving applications for land and other rights on the moon and planets for a quarter-century, at least.

In 1935, the bureau was advised by telegram that "our attention has been brought to the inquiries regarding land on the planet moon. Please be informed that we have recorded in Maricopa county, Phoenix, Ariz., 5,000 million acres on moon locations. On request, two-acre deeds are available at $1 per deed."

An English clergyman announced in 1956 he had purchased, through a New York land development company, a plot of land on the moon where he planned to establish the first lunar church. He also reserved three seats on the first passenger rocket to the moon. The deed he received included "the rights to mineral and oil deposits, fishing in the Sea of Nectar and winter sports on the Lunar Alps."

In 1933, a woman in California filed what she said was the first claim to land on the moon, for her six grandchildren. She renewed her claim some years later and again early this year.

In Japan, an organization reported that it had sold more than 40,000 acres of Mars land, most of it for 55 cents an acre. The market boomed after the launching of the satellites and the price of Mars land rose to $2.70 an acre.

So far, no person has sent any advance payment when attempting to file a claim. Which is perhaps just as well. The bureau, in case you are thinking of filing a claim on the moon or elsewhere in outer space, calls your attention to this:

"If the present provisions of the homestead law remain in effect whenever land areas on nearby planets are declared to constitute public domain of the United States, a prospective homestead entryman must present with his application an affidavit that he has personally examined the land sought and is familiar with its characteristics."

Bluebell Girls Capture Las Vegas, Vice Versa

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Bluebell Girls have captured Las Vegas and vice versa.

The celebrated dancers have been hailed as one of the most popular imports from the British Isles since scotch whisky. Actually, they are from Britain via France, for they are part of the Lido Club show brought over from Paris to open the new Stardust Hotel.

There are 16 of the Bluebell beauties here (one is Dutch, the rest English). They range in age from 18 to 24 and in height from 5 feet 8 to 5 feet 10. Their other statistics are equally impressive. What's more, they can dance like a desert whirlwind.

This show-wize town, not easily impressed by newcomers, fipped over the Bluebells. The girls have returned the compliment.

"Fabulous!" they say, exercising the usual Las Vegas adjective. I learned all this from a talk backstage with Miss Bluebell herself, Laura Kelly.

Miss Kelly is a lovely, well-spoken English lady who looks much too young to have started the Bluebell tradition 23 years ago. That was a childhood name of hers, and she adapted it to her well-disciplined troupes of dancing glamazons.

"I have three other companies working now at the Lido, in Morocco and Madrid," she explained. "I pick them tall as a kind of trademark, and they're all skilled in the classic dance. I get them because they're too tall for the ballet."

"They all come from good families and seldom have any discipline problem. If one does get out of line, she is dropped immediately. I have very strict rules, and I don't anticipate any problems here. Unlike the other places in Las Vegas, the Bluebell girls will not be required to mix with the customers."

The Lido show is about the newest ever to play Las Vegas, but Miss Kelly was careful to point out: "Bluebell girls always remain covered on the stage." The other girls from the Paris show, mostly English and German, do the stripping.

USDA Predicts Corn Crop Drop

Wheat Production To Top Average

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today forecast this year's corn crop at 3,311,249,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 1,343,490,000 bushels.

The corn estimate, which was the first for the year, was 91,583,000 bushels less than last year's production of 3,402,832,000. It compared with the 10-year (1947-56) average of 3,144,304,000 bushels. The largest crop of record was 3,605,078,000 grown in 1948.

The wheat estimate is 72,925,000 bushels more than last month's official forecast of 1,270,565,000. It compares also with 947,102,000 grown last year and 1,116,216,000 for the 10-year average.

The winter wheat crop was forecast at 1,129,727,000 bushels compared with 1,068,696,000 estimated a month ago. Production was 707,201,000 last year and 849,604,000 for the 10-year average.

All spring wheat was estimated at 213,763,000 bushels compared with 201,869,000 last month. Production was 239,901,000 last year and 266,611,000 for the 10-year average.

Colorado Honors Neward Jurist

DENVER (AP)—Judge Charles B. Holtsberry of Newark, Ohio, was given an honorary membership in the Colorado Bar Assn. by the Colorado Supreme Court Thursday.

Judge Holtsberry, who presides at a Common Pleas Court, was here to receive a certificate signifying the honor. Justice O. Otto Moore said later the certificate "is a gesture of courtesy, of western hospitality," and does not permit the recipient to practice law in Colorado.

Justice Moore said that while on a trip to Cleveland to discuss newspaper photography during court trials, he met Judge Holtsberry and the latter expressed interest in several recent Colorado decisions.

AGREES WITH IKE—Arriving back in New York from a five-week Mediterranean vacation, former President Harry S. Truman tells newsmen he agrees that President Eisenhower needs his assistant, Sherman Adams. "I think the government would be in a bad fix if they lose Adams," he said. "He's running it, you know."

Two of Missouri's most famous products: former President Harry Truman has friendly chat with that toughest of workers—a Missouri mule.

Missouri Mule Served Part Well As True Empire Builder

By GERALD S. SNYDER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

FULTON, Mo. — What has happened to the proverbial Missouri mule? Here, in the heart of the greatest of mule raising areas, Missouri folklore still swells at the seams with homely wisdom about these unsung empire builders.

Old timers point with pride at the time — not long ago — when these stubborn but sturdy hybrids built the railroads, logged the forests, powered the reapers and forced the sugar out of the cane. They did not have a peer anywhere and at one time almost half a million mules were treasured by the farmer. Today a scant 14,000 are around to help plow the fields and harvest the wheat.

No other animal has inspired so much profanity — "Either you laugh at a mule or you swear at him" — but no amount of humor at his expense can alter the fact that his patient labor was essential to the development of the mechanized culture that has made him obsolete.

"As stubborn and hardheaded under fire as they were with a fire under them," Missouri mules were used by both North and South as a beast of burden during the Civil war.

They proved indispensable to the British during the Boer war, and during World Wars I and II, Asiatic and European strategists discovered that mules could travel where trucks and tanks could not. In World War I, nearly 5,000 mules were killed with the American Expeditionary Force alone.

When World War II ended, the Missouri mule was called on to help with the biggest repair job in recorded history. The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration purchased almost 6,000 to be used for general farm work abroad.

In 1910, at a special exhibition at West Point, 64 Missouri mules were loaded with 14,000 pounds of ammunition and supplies in just 14 minutes. The bond between the animals and the cadets grew so strong that the mule became the

USDA Predicts Ohio's Crop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department Thursday forecast the following production of Ohio crops (given in order of number of acres for harvest, bushels per acre—unless otherwise specified—and total production):

Corn: 3,410,000 acres for harvest; 54 bushels per acre and production of 184,140,000 bushels.

Winter wheat: 1,525,000; 30; 45,750,000.

Oats: 1,079,000; 50; 53,950,000.

Soybeans: 1,467,000 acres.

Sugar beets: 21,000; 15 (tons per acre); 315,000 tons.

Tobacco: 13,000; 1,522 (pounds per acre); 19,780,000 pounds — of that 14,415,000 pounds will be of burley tobacco, 108,000 pounds less than produced last year.

NKP Asks Train Halt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Nickel Plate Railroad has asked the Utilities Commission for permission to drop two Cleveland-to-St. Louis passenger trains. The trains stop at Lorain, Fostoria, Findlay and Lima. Railroad officials claim the trains are not making a profit.

Kaiser Strike Ends

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — About 1,100 workers at the Kaiser Aluminum plant here ended a two-day unauthorized strike Thursday after the company reinstated 36 men to their jobs. The workers, members of the United Steel Workers Union, Local 341, left their jobs Wednesday protesting Kaiser's dismissal of one employee and the suspension of 35 others.

Cancer Bomb Takes Effect

LONDON (AP)—A cruel cancer time bomb is beginning to claim some human victims.

The bomb is radioactive medication containing thorium, which was given 30 or so years ago to thousands of people in many countries. Doctors didn't know then that such radioactive stuff could be dangerous.

Now some of those patients are developing cancers which are blamed directly on thorium.

No one knows how many thousands got the medicine. Or how many may develop cancers in the years to come. There are optimistic signs the number may fortunately be low.

The latest chapters in the thorium story were reported today to the seventh International Cancer Congress.

Lightning Kills Boy

TROY, Ohio (AP) — Lightning Thursday struck and killed Donald Overholser, who would have been 15 today, as he, his brother, Steve, and their father, Laurel, worked in a family garden at nearby West Milton. Police said the bolt knocked down Steve and stunned the father. However, neither were injured.

CHRIST TEACHES THE WAY TO LIVE WITH OTHERS

Scripture—Matthew 5:13-48; 23:23-26; Luke 9:51-56.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
TODAY'S LESSON might be introduced to the younger members of the class by suggesting that the words of Christ in the Sermon on the Mount could be compared to road signs which help us to drive safely over the highways when we are traveling. His words tell us what to do and what we should not do that we may keep on the road to righteousness living.

The older classes should be taught the importance of a single life. The suggestions are those of Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, editor of Peoples Notes.
If we follow the teachings of the Master we may become as a shining light in our world and a help to others.
Jesus did not come on earth to destroy the law, He said, but to fulfill it.

"Whoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven; but who-

"Ye have heard it said, thou shalt love thy neighbor and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemy, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you and persecute you. That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for He make the sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and unjust."—Matthew 5:43-44.

This is a difficult rule for nearly all of us to follow, but if we try to understand those with whom we come in contact, seeking for the motives, and circumstances in their lives which influenced their conduct, we can obey the commandment of Christ.

"If ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same?" The publicans were the tax gatherers who extorted all they could from the people and were hated by them.
A hypocrite is a person who

MEMORY VERSE

"Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them; for this is the law and the prophets."—Matthew 7:12.

soever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven."—Matthew 5:18, 19.

His people should be more righteous than the Scribes and Pharisees, whom Jesus later called hypocrites because they obeyed the rules for conducting the rites of the temple, but "have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and faith."—Matthew 23:23.

"Ye have heard it said of old time, Thou shalt not kill. . . But I say unto you that whosoever is angry with his brother without cause shall be in danger of the judgment."—Matthew 5:21-22. In such a state of anger, Christ warned, a man should not take a gift to God's altar. He must first be reconciled to his brother, then offer the altar gift.

About swearing, all too common a custom in our day, even with women, and sometimes small children, Jesus said: "Swear not at all."

U.S. Considers Big Loan To Strife-Torn Lebanon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is seriously considering 20 to 40 million dollars in emergency aid for revolt-torn Lebanon to help its pro-Western government survive continuing rebel attacks.

Officials said Lebanon appealed for funds for relief projects and

TV's Culture Spot, Sunday Afternoon, To Continue

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—Television's culture corner—Sunday afternoon—will be returned to the thinkers, the intellectuals and the critics in the fall with some slight remodeling.

Omnibus, for instance, will be back on NBC—but cut to an hour's length and presented on alternate Sundays. Wide, Wide World, which lost its sponsor, may be missing from the lineup. Ed Murrow's new Small World may be dropped into CBS' Sunday schedule. Such programs as Comment, Outlook and the news interview shows are expected to return.

The Sabbath's Snug Harbor is emerging as a unique period in television's programming. Large numbers of average citizens have found intelligent talk, stimulating drama and good music a welcome change from a steady diet of mayhem, audience participation shows and giveaways. Historically, Sunday afternoon has attracted comparatively small audiences. Hence it has been difficult to sell to sponsors interested in reaching the masses with their toothpaste, cigarettes, lipsticks or some such product bought in all income brackets.

More recently, however, networks have been discovering that their Sunday afternoon viewers were folks to be proud of—substantial, smart, educated, bank-rolled. One result has been sponsor interest by companies who want to reach more affluent audiences.

But many of the Sunday afternoon shows have remained without sponsors. They have continued partly because the shows give prestige to the networks. As a matter of fact, when NBC or CBS are of a mind to boast about their programs or attempt to prove that not all programming consists of Westerns, who-dun-its and panels they are likely to use a Sunday afternoon show to point up the argument.

Offers Help, Drowns

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Harold Brainard, 47, of nearby Lenox Twp., went to the aid of two boys in her farm pond who had called for help and was drowned Thursday. She apparently suffered a cramp after reaching them. The boys got out of the pond unassisted.

ST. LOUIS (P)—The wreck of a coin vending machine man's car here caused a mad scramble among a number of street urchins who scooped up as many coins as they could before police arrived.

Edward J. Alexander, the vending machine man, with the aid of police recovered $360 in nickels, dimes and quarters which flew into the street. The youngsters made off with $140.

Top Hat Eyes Tilt With Pa. Champs

The local Top Hat softball crew perhaps will meet its toughest test of the season Saturday night when a team from New Castle, Pa. comes to Ted Lewis Park for an exhibition.

The New Castle nine was crowned Pennsylvania state champs last year. The powerful Quakers won 45 games in 52 outings in their sweep to the top.

Top Hat, currently leading the rugged Eastern Ohio Fastball League, can be expected to give the Pennsylvania softballers a stern test.

Manager Paul (Snow) Seymour will have pitchers Kenny Reid,

Ray Narleski Gets Call To Stop Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Ray Narleski, who relieved Bob Turley in Tuesday's All-Star game at Baltimore, will oppose the Yankee righthander today as the Cleveland Indians try to even their series with the New Yorkers.

The Indians lambasted the Yankees with a 19-hit attack to win the series opener, 12-2, Wednesday night, but the Yankees came from behind twice Thursday to win a day-night doubleheader, 7-4 and 4-3.

Cleveland held a 2-0 lead after two innings of the afternoon game, but the Yankees scored three runs in the fourth to take the lead and held onto it. Elston Howard's two-run triple was the turning point.

Reliever Johnny Kuckes singled Howard home with the Yankees' third run in the fourth. The Yankees wrapped it up with two more runs in the sixth. They added two more in the eighth after Cleveland had scored a pair in the top half of that inning on a home run by Woody Held with a man on base.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant (6-7) started for the Tribe and was charged with the loss. Kuckes (7-3), who relieved Art Ditmar in the fourth, was the winner. But Ryne Duren, the Yankees' relief specialist, pitched the last 1-3 innings.

Rookie right-hander Gary Bell held the Yankees scoreless on five hits for seven innings of the night game while the Indians scored three runs. But the league leaders broke loose for four runs in the eighth and held on to win as Duren made his second mop-up of the day.

The Indians scored their first two runs in the fourth on two singles, a walk and a fielder's choice. They added another in the sixth on a walk and two singles.

Wilhelm (2-4) was charged with the loss. Bobby Shantz (5-3), who pitched one inning in relief, was the victor.

second win of the season with an 11-5 victory over winless DuPont. Skip Lutz was the winning pitcher and Wood took the loss.

Rusty Montgomery had three for four for the winners and teammate Ronnie Ash had the only extra base hit of the game, a triple. Wood had two for four for the losers.

G. E. defeated the Lions for the first time, 10-4. Hartley was the winning G. E. pitcher holding the Lions to six hits.

HARTLEY and Dade each had two hits for G. E. and Wellington, Phifer and Wells poked two hits each for the Lions.

In the battle of the unbeaten, Puring took the measure of league leading Elks, 6-5. It was a pitching duel between Nicky Nance of the Elks and Dick Dean, Purina.

Each hurler gave up two hits, but wildness and errors were the deciding factor.

Wright's triple was the only extra base hit of the game. Purina and Elks now are tied for the league leadership with 3-1 records.

Young Welter Foregoes Brush For Deft Mitt

"I'll have plenty of time for painting later," said Mickey as he awaited the bell for his important 10-round television tilt with Mexico's Indian Ortega at Madison Square Garden tonight. "If I can win the welterweight title I'll have enough money to take care of my painting career."

Mickey has won four straight, moved into the top ten rankings, and is the 7-5 choice over Ortega, also a contender. His record is 22-2. Ortega, a free-swinging fighter, has a 46-12 record, including 20 knockouts.

Ted Likes Nellie

BOSTON (AP)—Boston slugger Ted Williams thinks Chicago's Nellie Fox is the man to beat for the American League batting championship.

Williams, who captured the title last year with a .388 average, called Fox "a real fine hitter" as the White Sox second baseman took batting practice before Thursday night's game.

Fox currently is hitting .322, four points behind Vic Power of Cleveland and three behind Bob Cerv of Kansas City. Williams, who got off to his poorest start this year, has upped his mark to .313.

Stoutsville Records 7-1 Acme Victory

Stoutsville picked up a win in the Columbus Acme baseball league yesterday with a 7-1 decision over Olentangy.

Pitcher Bob Caudill gained the win although he hurled only 1 2/3 innings. After a shaky second inning, Caudill was relieved by Maynard who went the rest of the way in an air tight performance.

Stoutsville, 2-0 in the league, blasted 11 hits. Olentangy collected three, one off Caudill and two off Maynard.

The winners registered two runs in the first, three in the second and single tallies in the fourth and fifth. The game went 5 1/2 innings.

R. SMITH led Stoutsville at the plate, smashing two doubles. Teammate Weffler also had a two-sacker. Swartz paced the losers with two bingles, including a triple.

The winners played heads-up ball, recording four stolen bases which figured heavy in the scoring. The thefts were performed by Clark J. Smith, Maynard and Strawser.

Stoutsville has an important game coming up Sunday when they entertain Clintonville in a loop test. Both teams are deadlocked for first with 2-0 records. Game time is 2 p. m.

Memphis Mite In Publix Semifinals

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The Memphis mite is on another golfing rampage.

You'd think Junie Buxbaum, 5 feet 6 1/2 inch, 128-pound auto salesman, was the calmest competitor in the National Public Links tournament. It's hard to realize that in the past he twice gave up the game in disgust.

Junie, taking back slaps from his 18-year-old son, David, today tees off against bulky Bob Ludlow, a 220-pound Indianapolis physical education instructor, in the 36-hole semifinal.

Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla., 27-year-old law student in the University of Florida and former All-Army golf champion; faces Bob Patterson, the stocky stevedore from Portland, Ore., in the other semifinal.

The 36 hole windup Saturday will bring the winners together.

In double rounds Thursday, Sikes eliminated defending champion and medalist, Don Essig of Indianapolis, 5 and 4, and Al Kelley of Orlando, Fla., 3 and 1.

Patterson took Bob Kietcke of Chicago in 19 holes and Harry Musatto of Macomb, Ill., 4 and 3. Buxbaum, the 1956 Public champion and a 1957 quarterfinalist, methodically advanced with a 3 and 2 decision over Warren Strout of Speedway, Ind., and a 4 and 2 victory over Bob Faulkenberry of Oklahoma City.

Ludlow defeated Charles Kline, Roswell, N. M., 4 and 3, and Ron Luceti, San Francisco, 2 and 1.

Kochheisers Drop 6-3 Test To Waverly in Jaycee Loop

The Circleville Kochheiser Hardware baseball nine dropped a 6-3 contest to Waverly yesterday at Chillicothe. It was a Chillicothe Jaycee League game.

A disastrous third inning in which Waverly scored four times was the downfall for the locals. The enemy outburst in this frame was the result of four hits and three wild pitches.

Kochheisers also suffered a setback by not being able to get men across. They left 11 baserunners stranded while only five Waverly runners failed to get home.

Waverly collected eight hits but Kochheisers was close behind with seven. The Roundtowners scored once in the second and twice in the fourth, while Waverly got four in the big fourth and one in each of the fourth and fifth frames.

Reds' Purkey Keeps Mastery Over Giants

Chalks 10th Win In Shutout Stint At San Francisco

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
A pitcher's pride being what it is, Cincinnati's Bob Purkey might be hard pressed to pick between his own shutout string and the home run hitting of Larrupin' Lew Burdette.

Purkey pitched a dandy Thursday night, blanking second-place San Francisco for the second time this season, 4-0, and extending his scoreless jinx over the Giants to 42 innings since May 7, 1955.

But pitchers more than likely will recall their hitting over anything short of a no-hitter, and Burdette built a memory that's a beaut, driving in five runs with a pair of homers, one a grand slam, as Milwaukee beat Los Angeles 8-4.

Burdette now has a total of four homers in the majors, both in pairs—tying Don Newcombe for the National League record for most times hitting two in a game by pitchers.

While Burdette and Purkey were combining to put Milwaukee 1 1/2 games ahead of San Francisco in the race, the Philadelphia Phillies skipped past St. Louis into third place by whipping the Cardinals 13-3. The Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh 8-7.

In the American League, the Yankees beat Cleveland 7-4 and 4-3 in a day-night double-header. Boston ripped the Chicago White Sox 11-2 and took second place as Baltimore dropped Kansas City 6-3 and 3-2 in a two-night pair. Washington defeated Detroit 5-3.

The Phillies added 10 walks to 13 hits against the Cards. Solly Hemus' two-run homer capped a five-run fourth that beat Sal Maglie (2-2), and Harry Anderson, who drove in five runs, made it 8-2 with a two-run homer in the sixth.

Lee Walls drove in three runs, two with his 18th homer, and Bobby Thomson's two-run 10th homer gave the Cubs a six-run lead in the eighth. All the Pirates had were two runs on Frank Thomas' 23rd and 24th homers—but the lead was just enough as Dick Stuart, the minor league slugger, capped a five-run ninth with a two-run homer in his first major league game.

The Yankees, cracking a string of seven winless games at home, came from behind in both contests. Jerry Lumpe's two-run double off losing reliever Hoyt Wilhelm (2-4) capped a four-run eighth in the nightcap after Gary Bell had blanked 'em on five hits. Elston Howard drove in three runs in the opener, tripling for two in a three-run fourth that handed Jim (Mudcat) Grant a 6-7 record.

Jackie Nicklaus Favored To Win Ohio Amateur Title

By FRITZ HOWELL
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 52nd amateur golf championship went into the man-to-man stage today with two 18-hole rounds scheduled over Tippecanoe Country Club's hilly and heavily forested terrain.

Match play continues through next Monday and favored to emerge wearing the crown is 18-year-old, red-haired Jackie Nicklaus of Columbus.

The husky kid, who hits the ball a mile off the tee and performs around the greens with the finesse of a billiard shark, must fight off the challenge of 63 other qualifiers. But galleryites who have followed him in swarms through 36 holes of medal play the last two days are convinced he's equipped to do it.

Nicklaus, Ohio Open champion at the age of 16 and victor two weeks ago in the Trans-Mississippi tournament, won medalist honors in the qualifier with 69-68-137, three under par for the 6,574-yard course. He finished two strokes ahead of 41-year-old Tom Jones Jr. of Youngstown, the 1951 amateur champion and 1952 runner-up.

The 64 qualifiers, headed by defending champion Bob Ross Jr. of Springfield, represent 16 Ohio cities and towns. Ross, 21-year-old Rollins (Fla.) College senior did not have to take the 36-hole test, but proved he's ready by firing a 71 on opening day.

Columbus leads the way with 14 qualifiers, followed by host Youngstown with 13, Cleveland with 11 and Massillon with five.

In the field are 16 players who have won state or national titles of various types. It's one of the classiest arrays ever to go after the Buckeye play-for-fun laurels.

The 24-man public links contingent didn't do too well in the qualifier in which scores of 156 for 36 holes made it with ease. Only five of the fee-course aspirants got into match play. Among them, however, were defending champion Don Nist of Canton and two-time champion Jack Zimmerman of Dayton, who reached the finals of the amateur several years ago.

In today's opening round Nicklaus went against Dr. Mark Moots, champion of the Canton Brookside Club who qualified with 153, or 16 strokes back of the youngster.

Ross had Jim Stahl of Cincinnati, a Notre Dame varsity player, as his first foe.

Today's matches will whittle the 64 qualifiers down to 16, and Saturday's contest will leave only four for Sunday's 36-hole semifinals. The 36-hole championship round is scheduled Monday.

Thursday's scores included: Ronald Ely, Wilmington, 81-80-161.

Hydraulic rowing machines were first used in practice at Harvard in 1872.

Boxing Bout Delayed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Carmen Basilio-Art Aragon bout has been set back to Sept. 5 because of a conflict in dates with the Floyd Patterson-Roy Harris heavyweight championship fight.
The 12-round fight between Aragon and the ex-middleweight champ originally was set for Aug. 28. The heavyweight bout will be Aug. 18. Both fights will be outdoors at Wrigley Field.
Minnesota won seven straight games in taking its second Big Ten baseball title in the last three seasons.

Angling Outlook for Week Poor, But Here Are Tips

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If you're the kind of a fisherman who can listen to tips from a specialist, could be you'd have some luck this weekend despite predicted poor conditions.

The tips arrived about the same time the Wildlife Division issued its survey of weekend fishing prospects. They come from R. K. Davis, extension wildlife specialist at Ohio State University.

For largemouth bass, Davis says they usually feed where little fish are numerous, around the edge of a pond or near the cover of water weeds or brush.

Feeding bass cruise within 20 to 30 feet of the shore. Watch and listen for bass feeding. If you see one feed twice in the same place, move within reach and try to catch it while it is feeding. Live bait is good for bass fishing.

The crucial moment for hooking a bass occurs when it starts to take the bait in its mouth. You will see line and bobber move down or away as the bass moves with the bait. Wait until the fish pauses and starts a second run, then set the hook with a quick, short lift of the end of the pole.

For bluegills, they furnish summer fishing while bass fishing is slack. Use a small, limber cane pole, light-weight line, small sinker or none at all, a small bottle cork and a size 8 or 10 hook. Good baits are garden worms, crickets, catpaw worms, leeches and maggots.

The weekend survey says conditions generally throughout the state are and will be rather poor. Here's the rundown:

NORTHWEST — There are few bright spots in this area. Oxbow Lake and East Harbor are in good fishing condition although East Harbor is considerably below normal. Most streams are in poor condition and few fish are being taken.

NORTHEAST—A few lakes including Guilford, Zepernick, Berlin, Milton and Portage are in good condition. Fishing, however, is only fair. Most streams are roily and muddy and high and fishing is generally poor.

EAST CENTRAL— SOUTH EAST—Heavy rains have caused most streams in area to become high and muddy and fishing outlook poor. A few lakes, including Glendening, Tappan, Forked Run, Lake Hope and Lake Alma are clear.

CENTRAL—SOUTH— Best fishing spots will be parts of Hoover, Rocky Fork, Jackson and Knox lakes. Most streams are too high and muddy for good fishing.

SOUTHWEST — Grant, Kiser, Stonelick, Cowan, Sinclair and Indian lakes will provide the best fishing. Streams in area are high and muddy and fishing will be poor.

SANDUSKY BAY AND BASS ISLAND AREA—Some perch and catfish being taken in Sandusky Bay. In the island area, catfish are being taken along the shoreline and some sheephead and white bass off the reefs.

Reed Carries Davis Hopes

TORONTO (AP) — Whitney Reed of Alameda tries to give the United States its second straight singles victory and a commanding lead in the semi-finals of the American Zone Davis Cup competition today. He meets Canadian champion Bob Bedard of Sherbrook, Quebec.

The opening singles match Thursday resulted in an easy victory for Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, over Don Fontana of Toronto, 6-1, 6-2, 7-5. The Reed-Bedard match was postponed by rain.

The competition is three out of five, with the doubles set back to

Heads for Canada

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Mary Hafey, a 24-year-old Erie, Pa., water ballet teacher, sets out today to swim 28 miles of Lake Erie, hoping to become the first woman to accomplish such a feat.

Miss Hafey's manager said she would start out at 6 p. m. (EST) at Presque Isle State Park in Erie. She will attempt to reach Long Point, Ontario, Canada.

Saturday and the other two singles matches to be played Monday. A victory for Reed today would make it 2-0, and the United States would have to take only the doubles or one more singles match to clinch its place in the zone final against Israel, Argentina or the West Indies.

STILL LOOKING—Leo Voss, 79, self-styled citizen of the world, mans the oars of his boat, "Mermaid Hunter," in Long Island Sound, near Kings Point, L. Sales Tax Collections Are High

Sales tax collections from the sale of prepaid tax receipts for the final period of the just-completed fiscal year amounted to a whopping $9,844,009, Treasurer of State Roger W. Tracy said today.

This heavy "clean-up" period before the June 30 deadline produced an excess of $83,544, or 85 per cent, over the $9,760,455 collected during the corresponding period of last year.

Total cumulative collections for the year amounted to $224,658,574, which was a dip of $10,812,064, or 4.6 per cent, from the 1957 all-time high of $235,470,638, Tracy said.

For the entire year, there were six counties — Fairfield, Fayette, Gallia, Meigs, Monroe, and Washington — where collections exceeded those of the previous year. Tabulations, by county, for the final week, showed there were 54 counties reporting collections in excess of the previous year.

THE FINAL week also revealed that three urban counties — Franklin, Stark and Summit — have collections in excess of a year ago. Of the total loss in revenues for the entire year, the eight urban counties accounted for $7,690,935, or 71.1 per cent.

Pickaway was one of the 34 counties showing a loss in collections. For the period ending June 30, $16,200.74 was collected. Total collections from July 1, 1957, amounted to $385,246.84. This was a drop of 4.4 per cent from the previous year. Last year a total of $14,874.76 was collected for the period ending June 30, 1957.

A total of $403,078.09 was collected from July 1, 1956 to the period ending June 30, 1957.

Jaycees Hold Installation

The Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce held its annual installation of officers last night during a dinner held in Tink's Tavern.

William D. Clifton was installed as president by State Jaycee President, John Sutton, Dayton. Completing the slate of officers installed by Sutton were: James I. Smith III, first vice president; Neal Frazier, second vice president; Kenneth Crawford, secretary; and Kenneth Smith, treasurer.

Darrell Johnson, district vice president, made a few remarks encouraging the club to increase its activity for the coming year. President Clifton announced a directors meeting will be held July 29 at the new club rooms.

He also asked for assistance in moving furniture and miscellaneous items from the old meeting room. A state Jaycee planning session will be held July 26 and 27 in Columbus. All local officers are urged to attend.

Teays Valley Hires Teachers

The Teays Valley Board of Education last night hired C. Annette Davis to teach music at Walnut Twp. High School.

Miss Davis, 22, Logan, is a 1957 graduate from the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, with a Bachelor of Music Education degree. She holds a special four-year provisional certificate.

Miss Davis was born in Rio Grande and is a 1953 graduate of Logan High School. She has one year's experience in the Sandusky school system, teaching elementary vocal music. She is a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Miss Davis is to be married this summer and her husband will attend Ohio State University. They plan to reside in Columbus.

Four from County Attend Workshop At Ohio State U.

Four Pickaway Countians were enrolled in the School Health Education Workshop held recently at Ohio State University.

Included were Mrs. Helen Pickens, county health nurse; Mrs. Virginia Courtwright, teacher in the Ashville-Harrison school system; Mrs. Janet Boggs, teacher in Circleville High School; and Mrs. Pauline Kirkpatrick, local public health nurse.

The school started June 19 and lasted until July 9. Classes were held from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. daily.

The workshop provided background for improvement of school health programs. The courses covered recent trends in school health, methods and resources for health teachings, films, demonstrations, observations and field trips. Informal classwork and group projects were planned to meet the needs of participants.

The County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. covered tuition fees for the county and local health nurses.

Robeson Gets Hot Welcome

LONDON (AP)—U. S. singer Paul Robeson got a warm welcome in Britain today on his first trip out of the United States after being eight years without an American passport.

The 60-year-old Negro was greeted by a cheering mob upon his arrival at the airport with his wife.

"This is a great international event," he was told by Viscount Stansgate, 81-year-old Laborite peer.

Robeson entertained with snatches of "Water Boy" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" as television and newsreel cameras rolled.

He had been unable to leave the United States since the government withdrew his passport in 1950 because he declined to sign a non-Communist affidavit required by the State Department. This requirement was knocked out by a recent Supreme Court decision.

Robeson's first engagement in Britain is a concert for which he will receive 1,000 pounds—$2,800. He plans to accept other engagements in Europe.

Market Shoves Ahead Slowly

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrial and rails joined to move the stock market ahead moderately early this afternoon, pushing the average into new high ground for 1958. Leading stocks advanced fractions to about a point. Turnover was fairly active.

Aircraft-missile stocks, stimulated by a continuing stream of defense contracts, resumed their rise. Oils, rubbers, some chemicals and selected issues made gains.

The steels were helped by word that steel warehouses have had a pickup in sales and by news that June's steel output was the highest for any month this year.

Youngstown Sheet and Lukens Steel rose around a point each. Rails as a group moved to another 1958 high. Atlantic Coast Line and Illinois Central rose a point or better.

Gains in the neighborhood of a point were made by Kennecott, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Zenith, Union Carbide, Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric and Revlon. Lorillard fell close to a point.

U. S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

U.S. Drops Try To Deport Rose

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Efforts to deport Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, known to GIs as Tokyo Rose for her propaganda efforts over the Japanese radio during World War II, have been dropped.

District Immigration Director Bruce Barber said Thursday the federal government canceled the warrant for Mrs. D'Aquino's arrest for deportation because of a U. S. Supreme Court decision.

The court held the citizenship of a soldier who deserted in Germany could not be canceled after he returned to U. S. territory.

Mrs. D'Aquino, now 42, was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles. She was in Japan visiting relatives when World War II broke out. After the war she was arrested in Japan and convicted of treason at a trial in San Francisco. She served 6 years and 2 months of a 10-year sentence before being paroled in 1956.

Pickaway Grange Report

Star Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening in Monroe Twp. School auditorium, with Worthy Master Lawrence Reid presiding.

An appeal for aid was answered and plans were completed for the lunch to be served at the blood bank July 17.

The card chairman, Mrs. Shirley Anderson, reported that two get-well cards, two birth congratulations and one sympathy card had been sent since the last meeting. Mrs. Herman Porter reported three bouquets sent to the sick and two Testaments had been sent to new babies of Grange members.

Lecturer Mrs. Helen Schleich constructed program booklets, using the patriotic colors, red, white and blue, with the American Flag on the front and tied with a white ribbon.

THE THEME of the program was "Citizenship and What It Means to Me." It opened with

Segregation Hearing Aug. 4

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Three U. S. appeals court judges will begin hearing arguments Aug. 4 about the advisability of second year of racial integration at Central High School in Little Rock.

At issue is an order by Federal Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley at Little Rock which would postpone integration at Central for 30 months.

The Aug. 4 date was suggested by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

The hearing will probably be in St. Louis, where the appeals court generally sits.

Cuba Hostages Near Freedom

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP)—Cuban rebels have begun releasing the American servicemen they kidnapped nearly two weeks ago but it appeared their rate of return from Fidel Castro's mountain hideouts would be slow.

The first of the 30 servicemen, Airman Thomas R. Mosness of Ames, Iowa, was brought back Thursday several hours after the commander of the Atlantic Fleet, Adm. Jerauld Wright, flew to the U. S. naval base on Guantanamo Bay and voiced sharp irritation over the prolonged captivity of the men.

U. S. Consul Park Wollam, who has been negotiating for the release of the men, returned with Mosness and said the rebels were moving the sailors and Marines to a place where a Navy helicopter could pick them up, but the rugged mountain terrain was slowing down the operation.

The rebels also still hold one Canadian civilian, Nineteen North American civilians have been freed in small groups over the past 10 days.

Edgar Needs No Mulligans

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—The mulligan may be cricket to Ike but it's bum stew to Ed.

Ike and Ed are the Eisenhower brothers, President Dwight D. and Tacoma Atty. Edgar N. They both like golf, but they're poles apart on the mulligan.

Mulligan is a golfing term. For example, the golfer takes his first tee shot. He doesn't want to play the ball. He takes a second tee shot, but he doesn't count the first in his score. The second shot is the mulligan.

A beaming Edgar came off the 18th green at the Tacoma Country and Golf Club Thursday and announced he had fired a 5-under-par 67, two strokes less than his age.

"I shot six birdies, had one bogie and came up with a 67." Someone mentioned that the President had scored a 79 last week and had used a mulligan on the first tee.

Edgar's eyes twinkled and he said: "I shoot 'em straight, without trial balloons. I don't believe in the mulligan."

33 Submariners Fly to Liberty

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—Thirty-three atomic submarines have been flown 10,000 miles to spend a weekend at home.

The 29 enlisted men and 4 officers of the USS Nautilus arrived Thursday from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, on a weekend liberty.

The liberties expire Sunday and the men will return to their craft which is participating in Pacific maneuvers.

Groton is the home of the U. S. Atlantic Submarine Fleet and all of the men have families here.
